All in one 'statin alternative' available in the UK

PERFECT Vascular Natural, a heart health supplement combining the 'natural statin' red yeast rice, plant sterols and CoQ10, has launched in the UK.

Positioned as a "pharmaceutical-grade alternative (to statins)", Perfect Vascular Natural All in One has been shown to lower cholesterol in line with prescription medication, with no reported side-effects.

Multiple clinical trials of red yeast rice and plant sterols have shown that they can significantly reduce total cholesterol, LDL and triglycerides. The patent-approved combination used in the product has been proved to deliver results in line with conventional drug therapies.

Heart specialist Dr Gregory Cuozzo, who has three years' experience with the supplement, said: "My initial interest revolved around a growing subset of patients with high cholesterol who had tried multiple statin drugs but were not able to continue any of them because of disabling side effects.

"I have seen LDL reductions of approximately 30% and triglyceride reductions ranging from small percentages to as much as 60% reductions. The product helps lower cholesterol and triglycerides in patients who can't tolerate statins."
